A VERY FINE AND VALUABLE COLLECTION

OF

British War Medals.

The Property of

W. S. COUTTS, Esq., St. Albans.

NOTICE. The scheme on which this Collection is based, is intended to illustrate the War Services of the Cavalry and Infantry Regiments of the British Army as recorded by the issue of medals and bars.

To attain this objective, the aim has been to secure such medals as bore the full complement of clasps for the campaign on a single medal to each unit engaged therein. Wherever this has been found impracticable, by reason of the duration of the war, or the character of the operations making it a physical impossibility for any individual soldier to have served throughout, the specimens have been selected to exhibit the bars for actions representing the honours won by the regiment, supplemented by such as bear bars for operations in which the regiments concerned were only partly engaged, or were represented only by detachments.

When regiments with two or more battalions were employed, the services of each battalion are shown by separate medals with their relative bars.

The period covered is from the beginning of the war of the French Revolution to June 30th, 1881, the latter being the date on which the old system of numeral titles disappeared.

So far as the development has gone, sixteen regiments of Cavalry and forty-six of Infantry have been completed to show the full record of each. In addition many regimental rarities have been secured.

In the selection of specimens, care has been exercised to secure medals in the form in which they were originally issued and, so far as was possible, in the finest condition.

With the exception of a few of the very common medals, every specimen has been verified by the medal rolls, &c. All the Crimean medals have impressed edges.
